
Using HTML for profile layouts

Posted by admin - 2008/04/25 13:56

Where ever you see a text field that has the WYSIWYG editor, you can format your content in HTML. Fo those that have a little of dreamweaver or frontpage knowledge, format your content and the copy the code into the form field. Make sure you click the HTML field button at the buttom left of the editor. You may need to make several edits to get the format you want, but the end result will make your profile stand ot from the others.

=====

Re:Using HTML for profile layouts

Posted by geekhead - 2008/04/25 13:58

Maybe we should post a few simple HTML templates?

=====